

Logistics Officer

The NSW Nationals is looking for a self-starter to assist our political team.

For the last 100 years, our organisation has looked after the interests of rural, regional and remote NSW, ensuring no stone is left unturned in the pursuit of regional representation.

As an employee with the NSW Nationals, you will have access to the following benefits:

- A flexible and fast-paced work environment
- The ability to use your initiative to undertake projects important to you
- The ability to assist State and Federal Members of Parliament in their local campaigns
- Immersion and training in political campaigns
- Opportunities to travel for work, including training interstate and overseas (when appropriate)

The Role

This position, reporting to the Political Director, is responsible for:

- Administering proactive and reactive artwork requests, including social media, flyers, corflutes, billboards and other material
- Sourcing quotes and delivery timeframes for material for election campaigns
- Liaison with local campaign teams and printers to ensure timely delivery of material
- Organising the Party's merchandise supply chain
- Ensuring compliance with internal ordering processes for campaign and administrative collateral
- Assist with email, text message and other campaign platforms
- Assisting in the delivery of election campaigns
- Other projects as requested or approved by the Political Director or State Director

Requirements

- An understanding of or connection to regional NSW
- An understanding of politics in regional NSW
- A willingness to learn and work independently in a fast-paced environment.
